

The startup marketplace

---

Introduction

1. This website will consist in 4 parts: the first part will be where the people will expose their ideas about a startup. The second part will be the market, where entrepreneurs will see all the ideas, and can become partner with the creator. The third part will be like a small social media, where all the programmers will be, so they can apply for the startups. The last part, will be the presentations of the startups that have passed all the last parts, so they can find more supporters.
2. This website can create lots of small/big companies, that's the direct benefits.

Expected List of Features

This website will need a social media support, so we can pass the steps to create the startup, The others are small features that can be covered by a forum (for example)

Market Survey

For this part, we can take any startup platforms, the most famous ones are:

- shopify
- Wix
- BigCommerce
- OpenCart
- Weebly

All these platforms are oriented to help people to create their own startups, but are not oriented to help people creating teams, and that is the base of The Startup Marketplace (TSM)

References

As this website will be about creating teams, we will need nice experts that cover this field, so books like The Five Dysfunctions of a Team: A Leadership Fable (https://www.goodreads.com/book/show/21343.The\_Five\_Dysfunctions\_of\_a\_Team) or The 17 Indisputable Laws of Teamwork: Embrace Them and Empower Your Team (https://www.goodreads.com/book/show/874718.The\_17\_Indisputable\_Laws\_of\_Teamwork) will be really helpful.
